Making Disciples...Teaching Jesus

“(Jesus says) Go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you.” Matt. 28:19-20a

Here is some data about the Bible and Americans:

According to 82 percent of Americans, “God helps those who help themselves,” is a Bible verse. Those who identify born-again only did 1 percent better. 12 percent of adults believe that Joan of Arc was Noah’s wife. Over 50 percent of high school seniors thought that Sodom and Gomorrah were husband and wife. Some believe that the Sermon on the Mount was preached by Billy Graham. (Source: “The Scandal of Biblical Illiteracy: It’s Our Problem”, Albertmohler.com)

One might be tempted to say, “Well, that isn’t a problem in my house or in my church.” Well, I remember when I was working at my Field Work Church outside of St. Louis. We were doing an activity with their youth group. We would ask people, “Do you like this or Do you like that?” If they liked “this” or identified with it, they’d go to one side of the room. If they identified with “that” they went to the other side. Many of these questions were simple like, “Do you like Chocolate ice cream or vanilla ice cream?” However, two Bible questions were used. “Are you a Mary or a Martha?” They gave a blank stare, “Who is Mary and Martha?” I thought, “Okay, some work is needed, but not dire.” Then they asked, “Are you a Peter or a Paul?” Again someone asked, “Who is Peter?” I thought, “Wow, Peter is the best known of the Apostle’s, and they don’t know who he is.” These kids went to a Lutheran High School. How much worse do you think it is for those who go to public schools?

The bottom line is that Biblical illiteracy is awful in our nation. Yet, it is the job of the church to be “teaching them (baptized disciples) to observe all that I (Jesus) have commanded you.” It is for this reason that we as a congregation are to take the teaching of children, youth, and adults seriously. Because it is our job given by Jesus himself.

This month we will be making a drastic change to our children’s ministry program. We will not have normal Sunday School this year. We will have activities available for children, but it will not be as normal. Adult and High School Bible class will still be available. Now, this may seem to work against what I have written above. However, our goal is to strengthen our Wednesday night program.

It will have a newer and flashier name than “Midweek”. It will involve an opening every Wednesday. It will involve the reading and learning of the Bible through a three year cycle. Also, at the same time, there will also be an Adult Bible Class covering the same lesson as the children. The purpose of this is that it will make it easier for Adults to talk about the lessons with their children at home.

This 2018-19 School Year promises to be a new experience, and I hope it to be quite the blessed one. I pray that the many new activities and events will only serve to strengthen our task as God’s church, his holy priesthood, the task of making disciples. Which we do by baptizing and teaching. With a stronger Wednesday evening. With our teachers having an opportunity to fill themselves in God’s word on Sunday mornings or other days of the week. With all of these new opportunities that will be coming through the year, hopefully we will be better equipped to carry-out this sacred task.

If you are wondering why it is good to be in God’s word. Here are few reasons. 1) “Man does not live on bread alone, but on every word that comes from the mouth of God.” (Matt. 4:4) 2) We are disciples, the word “disciple” means student. If we are not learning/refusing to learn, we are rejecting our role as disciples. 3) The devil is attacking you from outside of the church and from within. He even knows how to quote the Bible (as he did against Jesus). Consider the armor of God in Ephesians 6, the word of God is the sword of the Spirit. To not be in God’s word, is to stand before the devil ready for battle, without a sword.

May this be the year that we gather together and take up that sword, and by the guiding of the Holy Spirit, learn to wield it a little better with each passing day. That we may better defend not only ourselves, but also those who are around us.

In Jesus’ Name,
Pastor Neil Wehmas

The end of August will be the start of a new school year. Here are tips on how to make a smooth transition back into the school routine. This article is taken from the website <http://www.teachhub.com/how-parents-can-prepare-back-school-time>.

How Parents Can Prepare for Back to School Time By: Janelle Cox

Back to school time is always a big transition, not only for children but for parents. While children are filled with excitement and first-day jitters, parents are filled with thoughts of "Am I prepared enough?" To help eliminate these thoughts, and help you and your child prepare for the new school year, all you need is a little organization and forethought. Here are 10 back to school tips to kick-start the new year and get you prepared for a fresh start.

1. Get back into your sleep routine. To help eradicate those stressful school mornings, set up a regular bedtime and morning time routine to help prepare your child for school. Begin your usual school sleep routine about a week or so before school starts.
2. Shop for school supplies together. To get your child excited about starting a new grade, shop for supplies together. Allow them to pick out their own backpack, lunchbox, etc. This is a great way to give them a little bit of responsibility too!
3. Re-establish school routines. Have your child practice getting back into the rhythm of their daily school routine. You can do this by having them wake up at the same time every day, and eat around the same time they would at school. About a week or so before school starts, plan a few outside activities where your child will have to leave and come home around the same time they would if they were in school. This will help them be rested and ready for the big day.

4. Set up a homework station. Sit down with your child and together designate a time and place where he can do his homework each day. This can be somewhere quiet like in the den, or even in the kitchen while you are preparing dinner. Make sure to choose a time where you are available in case your child needs your help.
5. Prepare for the unexpected. Working parents know that it can be difficult to find a sitter when your child is sick. Before school even begins, it's a good idea to have a sitter already lined up in case you get that phone call home from the nurse saying your child is ill.
6. Make an after-school game plan. Make a plan for where your child will go after school lets out for the day. Depending upon the age of your child, figure out if they will go to a neighbor's house, an afterschool program, or be allowed to stay home by themselves. This will help eliminate any confusion during the first few weeks.
7. Turn off the TV and video games. For a lot of children summertime is filled with endless video games and TV programs. Children are usually in shock when they begin school and realize that six hours of their day is going to spent learning and not playing games and watching TV. Ease your child into the learning process by turning off the electrics and encouraging them to read or play quietly.
8. Review school material and information. For most parents, schools send home a packet with a ton of information regarding their child's new teacher, important dates to remember, emergency forms, and transportation routines. Make sure that you read through this information carefully, and mark down all important dates on your calendar.
9. Get organized. The best way to prepare for back to school time is to be organized. With school comes a massive amount of paperwork which can consume your household. Designate a spot in your house for homework, permission slips, and any other school-related papers. This can help eliminate all of that paper clutter and make your life less stressful.
10. Get your child's yearly checkup. School and germs go hand in hand, so it's best to get your child's yearly checkup before school even starts. Get any required vaccinations and ask your pediatrician the best ways your child can stay healthy throughout the school year.

Through preparation and organization, you can ensure that your child will have a smooth transition to the start of the new school year. By doing so, you and your child can enjoy the rest of your summer break.

A prayer for schools taken from Portals of Prayer July-September, 2018 p. 118: Lord and God, we lift to You all schools, teachers, and students. We pray that You would bless each place of learning, from preschools to universities. Help the students and teachers to grow in knowledge and in the ability to serve others in love. We pray that all Christian schools will be places where the Good news of our Lord Jesus Christ is faithfully proclaimed. Hear our prayer in His name. Amen.

STEWARDSHIP CORNER

Money has been called the "the god of those who have too much, and the goal of those who have too little." In Proverbs 30:8-9 we read, ". . . give me neither poverty nor riches, but give me only my daily bread. Otherwise, I may have too much and disown You and say, 'Who is the Lord?' or I may become poor and steal and so dishonor the name of my God." Interestingly, many people, when tested with poverty, stay strong and moral; few people when tested with prosperity keep their original values and purposes. Blessed indeed is the person who avoids the extremes of too much or too little.

Christian giving is not measured by the size of the gift, but by the size of the heart.

"Each man should give what he has decided in his heart to give, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver" (2 Corinthians 9:7).
